

Kinship Care Special Issues

developing practice

Developing Practice Volumes 51 and 52 are the first journal Special Kinship Care Issues to be published in Australia. They cover kinship care policy and practice at Federal and State/Territory levels, and issues and challenges for children, carers, support workers and policymakers. Included are carers' perspectives, good practice initiatives, Aboriginal kinship care policy and practice, and new research. A special feature in Issue 52 is an article by British expert Honorary Professor Joan Hunt on assessment of kinship carers. Current issues and future challenges are considered in the Editorials of both Issues.
